

To Whom It May Concern:

It is with great confidence and heartfelt enthusiasm that I write this letter of recommendation for Marcus Thigpen. As a fellow therapist and someone who has had the privilege of collaborating with Marcus, I can say without hesitation that he is a rare and remarkable individual whose passion for people, depth of insight, and unwavering integrity leave a lasting impact on everyone he encounters.

Marcus is not only a compassionate counselor but also a man of profound wisdom and authenticity. His ability to fuse faith, emotional intelligence, and trauma-informed care into his work is both inspiring and effective. He brings a unique blend of lived experience, professional training, and spiritual grounding that allows him to connect with clients from all walks of life. Marcus has a natural gift for making others feel seen, heard, and valued, creating a safe space where healing and growth can truly take place.

What sets Marcus apart is his relentless pursuit of excellence and his heart for service. He approaches his work with humility and purpose, never shying away from the hard conversations and always willing to walk alongside those who are hurting. Whether he's counseling, writing, mentoring, or speaking, Marcus brings his full self to the moment. His presence is calming, his words are intentional, and his heart is always in the right place.

As a therapist myself, I've been consistently impressed by Marcus's character, professionalism, and genuine love for others. He is the kind of leader, counselor, and change-maker our world desperately needs. I am honored to know him, and I have no doubt that his impact will continue to grow as he follows his calling.

If you are considering Marcus for any opportunity, position, or partnership, I wholeheartedly endorse him. He is someone you want on your team, in your circle, and serving your community.

Sincerely,

Elexus Stowers, MA, LPC Licensed Professional Counselor
